

Are Your Employee's Accessing Quality Healthcare

Health Plan ID Cards are an Unlimited Company Credit Card

Think about how your employees are accessing healthcare providers, they ask their primary doctor, a family member or a friend. Let' say they need a Knee Replacement. How do they know the doctor being recommended does enough of those procedures to be confident in a quality outcome with minimal complications and maximum efficiencies? They don't.

When they purchase anything other than Healthcare, they expect higher quality with a higher price. Healthcare is just the opposite, typically the providers that do much more of a certain procedure will have better outcomes while being more efficient and therefore have a lower price.

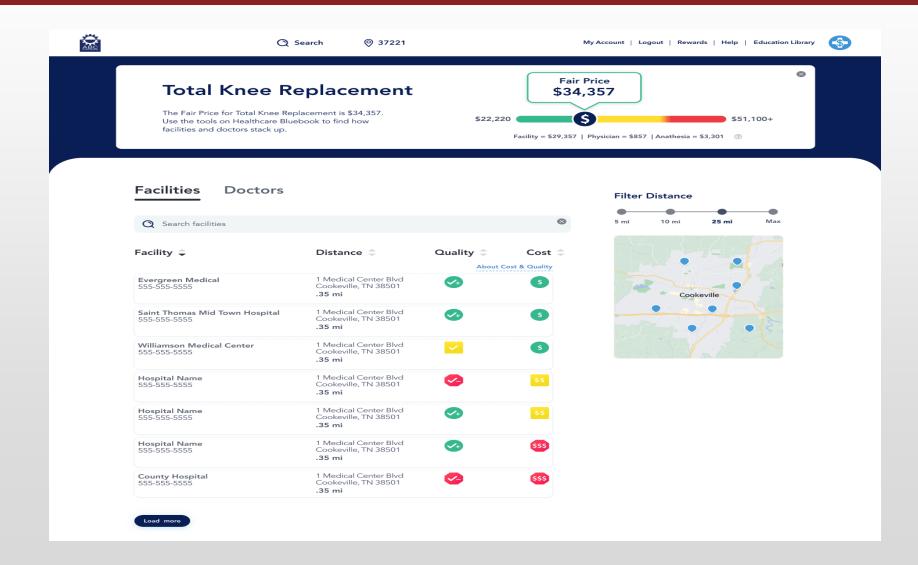

What if they knew prior to the procedure which providers in the area had the highest quality scores for the lowest price! This data is available.

Most employees pay some portion of their healthcare premium, and that portion tends to increase year over year while benefit levels decline. They know what their deductible and out-of-pocket maximum is so if the provider charges $22,000 or $52,000 for the Knee Replacement, they do not care.

What if they knew the provider that was recommended that charges $52,000 only did a few of those procedures a year and had lower outcomes with higher infection rates. What if they knew prior to the procedure which providers in the area had the highest quality scores for the lowest price! This data is available.
